Leadership Developer Questions:

1. You have just finished your three hundred page autobiography. Please submit a paragraph from page 217. (150 words)
2. Earth. Fire. Wind. Water. Avatar supposes that the world is made up of these four elements. What do you think are the four elements that compose START? Explain. (200 words)
3. It's the day of the conference and you've met all your great delegates, except they aren't all that great. You have one delegate that's loud, one that practically doesn't want to be there and one that's super shy. Which delegate would you spend most of your time with throughout the conference and why? (200 words)
4. It's the day of START and things are getting hectic. All of your delegates suddenly want to go use the washroom, but the toilet paper has run out. You decide to look in the shady dark storage room. BUT WAIT, as you enter you realize that you're not alone... something else is in there with you. The only problem is, IT'S INVISIBLE! You realize that you walked into the wrong room and the invisible troublemaker in the room can now escape since you left the door open. The invisible troublemaker is blocking the door so you're unable to close it! WHO KNOWS WHAT KIND OF TERROR IT WILL CAUSE IF IT ESCAPES! How would you use at least 5 of the items on the following page to trap the invisible troublemaker and save the day? (300 words)

Sheshank's lens cleaner spray	The toilet paper that you came for	A green water gun, that's empty	Maanav's hair wax
A caramel onion	A half, used bar of dove soap for sensitive skin	Agrata's red and black plaid shirt	A missing delegate from the wrong conference
